Activities for your son or daughter

We know that caring for someone while taking part in workshops and listening to talks can be challenging. We also understand that some subjects that parents want to discuss are difficult to talk about in front of children

To make sure you get a short break on the day, experienced play and youth workers will be available to spend time with the person you care for.

They will be offering flexible activities to suit the individual, but they will not be providing care (if the person you care for becomes distressed or anxious or needs support with eating or going to the toilet, they will ask you to take care of those needs).

If the person you care for has particular interests, allergies or phobias you think we should know about, please let us know as soon as possible. This will help us to ensure everyone has a successful and enjoyable day.
